(From Tuesday Advertiser.)

With prospects bright for a victory crowning their efforts on the polo field at Schofield Barracks yesterday afternoon, an unfortunate accident to David Fleming crippled the Maui aggregation and they were forced to lower their colors to the Oahu by a score of 12 to 11, in one of the best and most sensational games of polo ever played in Hawaii.

With Maui out in front, six to five, in the middle of the second period, the mount of Harold Castle, Sailor Boy, an extremely bad actor on the polo field, kicked Fleming in the field, causing his retirement from the game. Harold Castle was thrown violently to the ground when the foot of Sailor Boy caught in Fleming's saddle, but fortunately Castle escaped injuries, except that he was badly shaken up.

With the retirement of Fleming, W. Clarke was pressed into service and while he was willing and game and tried his level best to deliver the goods, Clark was not Fleming and with their team work shot all to pieces, Maui was compelled to play on the defensive throughout the balance of the game.

Despite the handicap, the Maui aggregation played a terrific game of polo and were only beaten by one point. Spectators' Enthusiasm.

With the placing of the ball into play at ten minutes past three o'clock by Referee Laurence Redington, both sides of the field were lined with automobiles while hundreds of army people filled the grandstand and stood about the lines. It was an impartial crowd as far as favorite teams were concerned, during the first two periods and they showed their enthusiasm time and again with liberal applause. After Fleming had been forced from the game the sympathy of the crowd went to the Maui team and throughout the rest of the contest, the cheers were mostly given to them.

As a polo game it was sensational and fast throughout the entire eight periods. Despite a heavy shower during the first period and at intervals, the field remained in perfect condition and the brilliancy in which the men rode up and down the field went in and out of scrimmage and showed their skill at the game, greatly pleased the crowd and it was the consensus of opinion that the Schofield Barracks polo field is one of the best and fastest in Oahu, not excepting Moanalua.

As the ball went into play, Walter Macfarlane passed it to Harold Castle and when he drove it toward the Oahu's goal Macfarlane rode through the opening left by the Maui team and in exactly fifty seconds scored the first goal of the game. Harold Castle scored the next goal in the same length of time and then Macfarlane scored again, making the score three to nothing in favor of Oahu before Maui really got into action.

Frank Baldwin and his men were not to be denied and with a display of riding and unflinching never before seen here, sent the ball through the Oahu's three consecutive times, tying up the score. Harold Rice made the first one, Frank Baldwin sent the second one home and Harold Rice annexed the third point.

With two minutes yet to play, Oahu nursed the ball down the field for Sam Baldwin and with two mighty drives he placed it through the goal posts, making the score at the end of the period, Oahu 4, Maui 3.

Mount Scores One

As the ball went into play for the second period, Frank Baldwin made a spectacular run down the field, and in one minute scored the fourth goal for Maui. The credit of making the next goal fell to Harold Rice and three long drives carried the white pellet through the goal posts in exactly seventeen seconds after it was placed into play. Oahu tied this up when Macfarlane scored the half home after a long run down the field, in which Harold Castle and Arthur Rice gave him wonderful protection.

Maui ended the period by scoring a goal when the mount of Harold Rice struck the ball with his hoofs, driving it through the goal posts. Previous to this play, David Fleming had ridden the ball, while riding for the ball, came together and the mount of the latter, Sailor Boy, lifted his hind legs in the air, striking David Fleming full in the breast. As the horse brought his feet toward earth, one of them caught in Fleming's saddle and Castle was thrown to the ground, the horse also falling. Fortunately Castle fell far enough away to prevent the horse falling on him.

After waiting two minutes, Fleming tried to resume playing, but the pain was too intense and he was forced to give way to Clark. Just before the accident to Fleming, while the teams were battling near the Maui goal, Harold Castle drove the ball into the automobile parking, and the result was a smashed glass windshield on one of the machines. Fortunately no one was in the front seat and the outside of the broken shield there was no damage.

Castle Is a Star

Harold Castle was the star of the third period, making all the goals scored during this period. He was in the middle of the fourth period, and as he passed it to Castle the latter made one dash for the posts, and despite the efforts of Maui to ride him off, scored a point in three hard drives. A moment later Castle again took the ball, and with Baldwin and Rice riding off the Maui players, he again scored a goal.

In the fourth period Collins displayed some brilliant horsemanship, and with the assistance of Baldwin and Rice, scored for Maui. Following Harold Rice played a safety.

For Oahu, Castle scored a goal after one minute and fifty-five seconds of playing, the period ending with the score, Oahu 8, Maui 6%.

In the fifth period Collins scored for Maui and Baldwin and Castle scored for Oahu. Collins scored one and Baldwin scored one for Maui in the sixth period, and Sam Baldwin scored one for Oahu, with Castle playing a safety, the period ending with the score reading Oahu 10%, Maui 9%.

Game Fight at End. Period seven opened with Maui fighting desperately to overcome the scant lead of the Oahuans, and within one minute of play Collins sent the ball home for a goal. Sam Baldwin and Castle, though, did some great work in this period, for Oahu and each scored at the timing the score at the close of the period 12% for Oahu and 10% for Maui.

As the whistle blew for the eighth and final period of the game Maui rode after the ball like wildfire, and for five minutes there were exhibitions of great polo on both sides. Yet two minutes after forty seconds yet to play, Maui made a desperate effort to tally, and within forty seconds of the end of the period scored the final goal of the game, making the score 12% to 11% in favor of Oahu.

It was up to Maui to save the day in these next forty seconds, and a polo fight harder or gamier to keep their opponents from scoring. Down the field toward Maui's goal went the ball, and a mighty stroke from Harold Rice and another from Collins carried the ball dangerously near the posts.

Then came the shrill blast of the whistle and the game was over, and once more the polo championship remained with Oahu.

At the conclusion of the game a heavy shower came, but this did not deter the spectators nor the opposing teams from giving vent to their feelings, and for fully three minutes the hills rang with the cheers of the crowd for the victors as well as the vanquished.

42 STARS WILL PLAY BASEBALL HERE SOON

Seven weeks hence, or, to be exact, November 18, local baseball fans are to be given their first peep at Happy Hogan and his famous Venice baseball team. This all-star aggregation of Coast Leaguers are to arrive in Honolulu November 16, and on the following Wednesday will hold a practice day at the fall park. Admission will be absolutely free to their practice stunts; the public is invited to come along and watch the big fellows cavort on the ball field.

Altogether there are to be fourteen players from the Venice team, and Eddie Maier from Los Angeles, Umpire Jack McCarthy and two players from San Francisco, who will join the Los Angeles party in the Bay City and depart for Honolulu in the steamer Sierra November 10.

Besides the ball players, there are to be the wives of several of the players and friends of Mr. Maier—in all thirty-five people who will visit Honolulu next November. Manager Lowry is planning a royal welcome to the visitors, and is mapping out a program of entertainment that will surely gladden the visitors. In this campaign he is receiving the hearty cooperation of the Elks, through their exalted ruler, Lord Andrews, and the latter promises something new and original for the party, irrespective of whether they belong to the Elks or not.

Edwin R. Maier, owner of the Venice team, who is to accompany his players to Honolulu, is past exalted ruler of Los Angeles Lodge of Elks and is chief rabbi of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles Valley Shrine.

Venue Ball Players

Not alone will the Tigers show the fans something in the way of baseball, for White, Bliss, Carlisle, Kane, Horton and others in the lineup are stars of the diamond as well as musically inclined, and can sing, dance and perform on musical instruments in a most pleasing manner. It is planned to tender the Venice party a dance on the roof garden at the Alexander Young Hotel, and to also have them take part in a vaudeville entertainment, plans of which will be arranged for later.

The trip of the Tigers to Honolulu is to be both a pleasure and business one, and it is up to the people of Honolulu to make the visit a success. Thirty-five people in one party is some party, and it is the first time in the history of the sports of the Islands that so distinguished a party of sportsmen came to Hawaii.

As baseball players, every man in the team ranks high in his profession and is a gentleman on and off the field, and Edwin R. Maier, who is to make up the party on the mainland, will spare neither time nor expense in bringing none but good fellows with him.

Verily the coming of the Venice baseball party to Honolulu is the biggest thing it has not the biggest, affairs ever attempted.

Will Play Seven Games

As yet Manager Lowry has not fully completed the schedule of games the Tigers will play in Hawaii. It is so far settled that the team will open at Schofield Barracks November 19, against the Twenty-fifth Infantry team. The following Saturday, November 21, they play the Panchoa team, and November 23 they will play the All-Chinese team, which is to be greatly strengthened with several of the players who will return from the Coast shortly with the Sammy Hop aggregation.

A game is also scheduled with the Coast Defense team and also with the Twenty-fifth Infantry team in Honolulu. The former will probably meet Venice November 25, while the Schofield aggregation will play them November 29.

Lieutenant Glassford of the First Field Artillery is likely to reorganize his team, and will probably ask for a game, while a suggestion has been made that a strong picked team play them Thanksgiving Day. Manager Pareira of the Portuguese Athletic Club is also seeking a game with the Tigers, while Maui is also looking forward toward the team playing one game on the Valley Isle.

Took Like Wildlife

With everything going fine and dandy for the coming of the Venice team the fans were highly pleased, but the announcement that two world's star aggregations of major league ball players were coming to Honolulu took like wildfire, and the delight of the followers of baseball that they were at last to see stars like Tesreau, James, Bender, Schang, Joe Bush, Duffy Lewis and the like knew no bounds.

BOSTON BRAVES WILL MEET ATHLETICS IN BIG WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK, September 30.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—The Boston Braves and the Athletics will fight out the 1914 championship at New York and Boston, the first game to be played on October 3.

The Boston National League team, after an upward climb that has been the sensation of baseball yesterday, clinched the pennant of the 1914. Boston went from the bottom of the league on July 18 to the lead some weeks ago and set the race yesterday.

The games played yesterday resulted as follows:

TRANSIT COMPANY PAYS ASSESSMENT WITH A PROTEST

Holds That Utility Commission
Should Have Revised Rates
After Chairman Retired

A new point was raised on the rights and powers of the public utility commission at a meeting yesterday, and the point probably will be carried to the courts by the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company, which has taken position that the commission has no authority to tax utility corporations if it has a chairman.

Tennay Peck, president of the city railway company and C. G. Bal-tyne, manager, paid the commission's assessment, amounting to $547.63, yesterday, but paid it under protest.

Mr. Peck declared that the commission should have revised its assessment rates as soon as its chairman left office.

Position of Transit People
"The commission," he said, "is supposed to assess the corporation to the amount of its current expenses. The salary of a chairman is $10,000 a year. That is the chief expense. The commission has been without a chairman for several months, and therefore, its expenses are almost $1000 less a month."

"The commission is not created to be a savings bank, or to accumulate fees. Its rates of assessment should be based on its expenses."

The commissioners decided to send a letter to the Rapid Transit Company asking it to put in writing its reasons for paying the fee under protest.

A meeting will be held by the commissioners and Governor Pinkham this week—probably Friday—the commissioners announced yesterday.

"We will only take up things in general," said Commissioner A. J. Gignoux.

Will Discuss Utility Act

Acting Chairman J. N. S. Williams would not give a more specific outline of the business with the Governor.

One thing in connection with this meeting seems not at all improbable—that is, that the chief executive will take up with the commissioners his ideas for the revamping of the utility act.

"The Governor wishes to see us," said Mr. Gignoux, "and talk over several things."

Utility Commission Decides to Solicit Congress for Early Action on Measure

Dissatisfied over the long delay in Washington on the bill for the extension of the Rapid Transit and Land Company's franchise, the Public Utility Commission at a meeting yesterday decided to take a hand in the matter to see if it could bring any pressure on congress to take some action on the measure.

Commissioner A. J. Gignoux proposed that the commission address a letter to Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, asking him to use his good offices to get the bill out of committee, where it has lumbered for months, and before congress. Before sending such a letter, however, it was decided to see Governor Pinkham, which will be done this week, probably Friday.

The commissioners expressed the sentiment that the franchise bill has been in Washington an unnecessarily long time, with no more action on it than to have it referred to committee.

L. Tenney Peck of the company said yesterday that he did not know when the bill would come before congress.

"We have done everything in our power to get some action on it," he said. "Former Governor Peary has worked hard in Washington, but without any apparent results."

"The bill is a 'people's bill,' in the

Immense Container Consistently Dry Now In Service

You may sprinkle your lawns from morning till night now, and the water department is not likely to interfere, saying something about a water shortage.

For there will be no water shortage this year, by all the present signs. Rather the contrary.

The man who measures the water in the Nuuanu Valley reservoirs sent down hurried word yesterday that the dams were "playing to capacity."

Reservoir No. Four Included
And this includes Reservoir No. Four, the one farthest up Nuuanu and the one which has been consistently dry since its completion in 1910.

All the officials in the water department had abandoned hope that it would ever get any water.

It seemed to have a "jinx" on it. As a matter of fact, it was believed to have been built too far toward the Fall.

However that may be, it had been dry since February, 1910, up to the present time.

Trivial Quantity Stored
But it is not dry now. It has the trivial quantity of 372,000,000 gallons in it. This means that there are fifty-six and one-half feet of water in it. A couple of days ago it had 392,600,000 gallons, which is the highest amount ever in there.

The city uses 14,000,000 gallons of water a day, but of course a great deal of this is pumped.

With the Nuuanu reservoirs all well filled, especially No. 4, the water department is drawing its first easy breath, confident that the signs of the times are that there will be no water shortage this year.

GREAT TORRENTS OF STORM WATER DO HEAVY DAMAGE

Island of Kauai Is Visited by Terrific Rain and Floods Result

(By Mutual Wireless)
LIHUE, Kauai, September 28.—(Special Dispatch to The Advertiser).—Gathering force in the hills and sweeping down on the lower lands with a mighty onrush, great torrents of storm water did thousands of dollars of damage on Kauai Saturday night. It has been years since damage running into so many thousands has been suffered on this island from a storm.

The property loss on Kauai, not considering the damage to rice and cane fields, is estimated at one hundred thousand dollars.

One hundred and thirty acres of young cane of the Lihue plantation, as destroyed in the flood Saturday and the land washed bare of soil. The Waihaia reservoir was destroyed, but the Lihue reservoirs were saved. The Kolos in tank, which cost $6000, was destroyed and the underground pumping station buried.

Flood Was Climax

The flood Saturday was the climax of the season. The Waihaia river began to overflow Thursday morning, and as a result a section of the town of Waihaia was under water most of the day. The water in residence premises was two feet deep, while in other localities it ran as high as three feet. In front of the store of Hoffmann & Co., the water was from one to one and a half feet deep.

There was more alarm over the situation in neighboring towns than in Waihaia itself, however, as evidenced by telephone calls from everywhere in to Waihaia for information. The people of the flooded town had such a desperate before—although on a much smaller scale—and did not appear to grow unusually excited about it.

Three Causes of Flood

The flood had three causes. First, was a cloudburst on the mountains several miles above the town, occurring the night before, the river beginning to rise in the early hours of the morning.

Second, an embankment of sand which had been formed at the mouth of the river by the action of incoming waves from the sea and the outgoing waters of the river.

Third, an unusually heavy swell coming in from the sea just at the time the flood waters from the land were rushing down.

Water rose to the top of the banks by 7 o'clock in the forenoon and it was then that an overflow was threatened. All the roadmen of the district were called out and set to work at the perilous task of clearing the sand from the mouth of the river. They were successful at first, but the increasing force of the waters from both sides piled sand back again faster than they could remove it.

The Gotanda Hotel, near the river, were the first premises flooded. From there the water moved on and engulfed the district back of the ice works, the telephone exchange, the Waihaia Auto Works and Bishop & Co.'s bank. Another flood stream started up the road to the right from the bridge toward the valley.

The water in the district around the telephone exchange finally reached such a height that it broke over the road and flooded the premises of J. McCallan and proceeded on down to Hoffmann & Co.'s store, the square in front, and to the court house. The residence premises of George Bertram and Deputy Sheriff W. O. Crowell, across the road, were invaded by the water, despite the fact that they are considerably higher than the surrounding country.

Continuous Lake to Sea

It was about one o'clock in the afternoon that the water was at its highest and Waihaia folk seemed to really manifest alarm. At that time all the rice patches on the outskirts and other low places were filled and there was practically a continuous lake from the bridge around to the highlands and to the sea near the steamer landing.

After one o'clock, however, it was noted that the flood was receding, and in a couple of hours more little water remained except in the rice patches and low regions.

A gratifying feature of the occurrence was that not an accident was reported, the casualty list showing only a few chickens and the like.

The rain, which began early in the week, proved unusual for this time of the year all over Kauai; the heavy and almost continuous showers extending all the way from Hanalei around to the mountains above Kekaha.

Last night almost a continuous and very heavy rain started in and has kept up most of today (Saturday). Anahola bridge has been washed away, and the dam of Lihue plantation's main reservoir is momentarily expected to break. Rice fields and low lands around Nawiliwili are like lakes. Hanalei river began rising last night, and this afternoon a part of the village is under water.

The sandbank in the Waihaia river, which was one cause of the flooding of Waihaia town, has been cleared away so no further trouble is anticipated there, although very heavy rains have fallen in and above Waihaia and at Kekaha during the day.
